And
FORESTRY SCIENCE INSTITUTE
Warsaw University of Life Sciences
Department of Forestry Protection

are honoured to host the participants of two joined conferences

18th Symposium of Polish Carabidologists

9th Baltic Meeting of Coleopterologists

Olsztyn, June 21-23, 2023

Opening comment

After the break caused by the coronavirus pandemic, we propose to reconstitute our meetings, both national and international ones, which involve carabid beetles and the beetles of the countries of the Baltic Region. We look forward to excellent presentations and deep discussions. We will organize the symposium in a lovely region of Poland, famous for its forests, lakes, and good food. The venue is located on the most beautiful campus in Poland, where students and staff have their 'own' lake, magnificent parks, and a beach, guaranteeing a healthy balance between study, work, and relaxation. We are convinced that in addition to the scientific values, symposium participants will enjoy being in this magical place that is the university town - Kortowo. You are welcome!
